Challenge: Testing In The Cloud

Delivering a critical mortgage application on Microsoft's Azure cloud for one of the world's largest banks is not an uncommon challenge for a firm like Accenture. With a bank of this caliber, ensuring on time delivery with the highest possible quality standards is a must. Often times, this requires comprehensive end to end testing before handoff.

Quote

"A mortgage platform has a number of time critical parameters that are triggered in the e2e journey. Testing without Time Machine would have resulted in a much higher risk based approach to the System Integration test phase or a longer test phase."
