THE ENTIRE TIME MACHINE SUITE; ONE ELEGANT INTERFACE

Solution-Soft

Introducing the Time Machine Enterprise Management Console

The Time Machine Management Console enables users to manage and monitor virtual time for complex distributed applications and testing environments easily and effectively from a single interface.

The Time Machine Management Console improves the quality and convenience of complex application testing by providing a single virtual time management and configuration solution. You can configure manage and monitor virtual time for different distributed application components from a single Time Machine Management Console.

The Time Machine Management Console allows customers to configure virtual time and apply that virtual time to specific components of applications. For example, if your application is deployed on a JBoss application server on-premises and uses an Oracle database in the cloud to store application data, then with the Console, you can configure and enable virtual time for both parts of your application; the on-premises application server part and the cloud based database part. All that work can be easily done with TM Console.
